Discussion: What roles has art played over the course of history? What does art tell us about a place and a time? Why do people create art?

Language Focus: “To”

The word “to” is used for these reasons:

- 1. Indicates the person, place, or thing that someone or something is moving towards:
e.g. I am going to the park. The jet is flying to Japan. We went to the store. Come to me.
- 2. Shows a relationship:
e.g. You need a resume to get a job. Listen to this song.
- 3. To indicate an ending point:
e.g. I'll save up to a thousand dollars a month. Stack the books up to the top.
- 4. To show a time period of time:
e.g. I have school from Monday to Friday. It's ten to seven (6:50 p.m.).
- 5. As part of the infinitive verb (to + verb)

Now, look at the uses of “to” from the stories and decide which use goes with the examples:

Transcripts of Weekly news stories

	JUNE 13 TH WEEKLY NEWS STORIES	TIME
Introduction	Hi, I'm Rosa Marchitelli . You're listening to Learning English with CBC for the week of June 13 th .	0:00
Story 1	A Calgary man and woman are now charged in connection to a nation-wide lottery scam. Victims would get letters in the mail telling them they'd won the lottery. But to pick up their prize they had to give a large sum of money. Investigators searched a southwest Calgary apartment and found credit card data, mailing lists and computers. Police say two people jumped from a second story balcony to try to escape. 34-year-old Albert Onolunose and 25-year-old Abeba Gima face a number of charges. This isn't Onolunose's first problem with the law. The professional boxer was charged in 2010 with similar offences.	0:13
Story 2	Calgary's mayor says there could be a vote at the next civic election on secondary suites. But he'll keep trying to find for a quicker solution to see the suites become legal city-wide. Naheed Nenshi says he's hoping council will -- as he puts it -- "see the light" -- and legalize the suites. He thinks that there are 35-thousand illegal secondary suites in the city. Nenshi says legalizing them will help make them safer -- adding the city needs the housing because of the low vacancy rate. City council will next debate the issue in September.	1:11
Story 3	After some delays, the city is getting on with the job of including public art into its biggest-ever infrastructure project: the West LRT. The transit line opened late in 2012... but without any public art. City council decided to take more than three million dollars from other transportation projects to ensure the line gets some public art. Council also said that the original lion statues from the Centre Street bridge will be part of the art plan. The city's manager of culture, Sarah Iley (EYE-lee), says a workshop will be held this Saturday to ask Calgarians what they want to see.	1:56
